

OFFICIAL CHANGES IN F. AND M. BANK

J. P. Ivy Assumes Presidency and L. Chapman Becomes Cashier.

Frank S. Westfall has resigned as president and manager of the Farmers and Merchants bank of this city and his brother J. B. Westfall, has resigned the position of cashier. The directors have elected J. P. Ivy to the office of president to succeed F. S. Westfall and L. Chapman, until recently chief clerk of the Valley bank, has been named cashier and is now in full charge of the institution.

Concerning the above changes Judge W. H. Stilwell, counsel for the bank, when interviewed last night made the following statement: "The Westfall brothers came here several months ago from Oklahoma and associated themselves with numerous old residents and business men of the city and county and established the Farmers and Merchants bank. Recently certain actions were brought in the local court against Mr. Westfall of a nature which he deemed might be injurious to the interests of the stockholders and management of the bank. That the bank might be entirely relieved from any ill effects from his personal matters in which the bank was in no way concerned he and his brother tendered their resignations as manager and cashier respectively. Their resignations were accepted and Hon. James P. Ivy, a stockholder, was elected a director and president of the board of directors in place of Frank S. Westfall and Mr. L. Chapman, until recently chief clerk at the Valley bank, was elected cashier to succeed Mr. J. B. Westfall. The territorial auditor was present and approved of the change and officially checked up the books and accounts of the retiring officers, formally installing their successors."

The bank though not a large one and occupying a field of its own has been quite prosperous since it was established in the early summer. Its patrons seem to have been well satisfied with their treatment. Mr. Chapman who now has charge of the bank has been in the banking business all his life, and has had wide experience. He has been here long enough to thoroughly familiarize himself with local conditions. The board of directors is composed of gentlemen well known in this valley since the earliest times and their personal standing and reputation is ample to insure the growing prosperity of the bank.

A GLANCE AT BAYARD TAYLOR.

By the Burning of Midnight Oil, He Worked Himself Into Exhaustion.

He was a tireless worker, was Bayard Taylor, and at last his health failed under his labors at the newspaper desk, beneath the midnight gas, when he should long have rested from such labors. I believe he was obliged to do them through one of those business fortuities which deform and enslave all our lives but he was not the man to spare himself in any case. He was always attending new things and he never ceased endeavoring to make his scholarship preparation for the want of earlier opportunity and training. I remember that I met him once in a Cambridge street with a book in his hand which he let me take in mine. It was a Greek author, and he said he was just beginning to read the language at 50; a thirteenth I suppose. I imagined the surprise I felt at his taking it up so late in the day, for he said, with charming seriousness, "Oh, but you know, I expect to use it in the other world." Yes, that made it worthwhile, I consented; but was he sure of the other world? "As sure as I am of this," he said; and I have always kept the impression of the young faith which spoke in his voice, and was more than his words.—W. D. Howells.

Y. W. C. A. HAS A CONFERENCE

Gathering Took Place in Los Angeles

TO HAVE LUNCHEON TODAY

In This Conference Hundreds of Young Women Are Brought Together, and it is Expected Much Good Will Result

Several hundred students of southern California are holding a conference in the interests of the Young Woman's Christian association. The meeting place is the University of Southern California in Los Angeles. With the solid serious conference work is mingled that social life and enthusiasm which always marks student activities. Miss Flora J. Miller, formerly a national worker among state university students, is toastmistress at the Saturday luncheon and a number of student leaders are on the list for toasts. Because the regular spring conference arranged by the national board in New York will occur late this year, this southern conference is used as the means of bringing together many students who otherwise could not receive the notable conference benefits. Mrs. O. Sheppard Barnum presides at the Saturday sessions, morning, afternoon and evening and the address of welcome will be given by President George F. Bovard, University of Southern California. The other address of the morning will be given by Miss Theresa Wilbur, on "The Power of United Effort." Miss Wilbur's engagement to Mr. Fred M. Faust of Philadelphia has recently been announced and this has brought consternation to many a student camp, for Theresa Wilbur is known to more than fifty thousand students personally or by the direct influence of her work first as student secretary and later as executive of the field department. It is only a few years ago that she herself was a student at Stanford, then a teacher in the Pasadena high school. From this position she was a few years ago released for ten days to attend the spring conference. This conference was the event that decided association leaders that Miss Wilbur must join their ranks and she was at once chosen as state secretary for California and Nevada. She traveled over this territory organizing and strengthening student and city associations, but are long a higher authority spoke and she was called to do for the country what she had done for two states. Her brother Judge Curtis D. Wilbur is to Los Angeles what Judge Lindsay is to Denver and every member of the family is a distinguished worker, each along a different line. As executive of the field department of the national board, Miss Wilbur held one of the highest positions in this country. The framing of policies for newly organized groups of states, searching out and appointing women to positions of responsibility, conferring with leaders in this country and at the world's headquarters in London fell to her lot. As a resident in Philadelphia, after her wedding early in the year, her association friends are assured that her interest in the work she has been identified with can never flag and that her proximity to the national office will admit of her containing her close relationship there.

Miss Helen Salisbury, also a Stanford girl, at present is doing the student work for this section, which now comprises California, Nevada and Arizona. About two thousand students are members of the associations, including state universities, women's colleges, co-educational colleges, normal, private and Indian schools. Miss Salisbury is a graduate of the National Training school in New York and is considered as one of the best student secretaries in this country. She is keenly alive to the interests and ability of the student and ever holds before her the highest ideal. One of her aims is to have the entire support of the general secretary in Tokyo, Japan, carried by the students. She often gives lectures to the training class of half a dozen girls in Los Angeles and has also lectured to the students in New York. Immediately upon the close of the three days' conference in Los Angeles, her attention will be turned to the arranging for the larger meeting to be held next May at the Hacienda, Mrs. Phoebe Hearst's home in Pleasanton. This is largely a student gathering and the fourteen student associations are entitled to delegates, which usually come about three hundred strong. There is a mingling of the city girls and more mature board and committee women from the dozen cities where associations exist, representing twelve thousand members. The forms of work undertaken are travelers' aid, employment, lunch and rest rooms, educational classes, extension work and gymnasiums. At present there is but one association in Arizona, that at Bisbee, but with an increased staff of traveling secretaries, it is expected that other cities may be organized in the future.

CANDIDATE GIVES OUT CLEAN CUT STATEMENT

F. M. Pool Tells The People What he Will Do If Elected Corporation Commissioner.

Without detracting in any sense from the merits of any of the other candidates it can be said truthfully that there is no man on the republican ticket better deserving of success than is F. M. Pool, of Gila county, candidate for corporation commissioner. It is universally recognized that to fill that position successfully a man should, of all things, have the highest business attainments together with a perfectly sound judgment and an unbiased mind. All of these qualities are possessed by Mr. Pool in marked degree.

Mr. Pool is 43 years of age. He came to Arizona with his father's family in 1882, so he is about as much of a pioneer as his age will permit. Regarding his aims with respect to the administration of the office of corporation commissioner in the event of his election Mr. Pool has the following to say:

"I have lived continually in Arizona since coming to the territory. Have lived in Pima, Cochise and Pinal counties, and am now a resident of Gila county. I have followed various occupations since coming to the territory. I have been a farmer, punched cows, miner, school teacher, ran a general merchandise store, and am now the sole owner of the Kelvin Lumber & Supply Co., with lumber yards at Ray and Winkelman, Ariz. I have never held any public office. Have always been a republican in politics, but have always supported good democrats in county affairs. I believe in the application of the civil service system in the selection of employees for all county, state and federal positions. I believe in the principle of the recall, but believe the procedure in the present recall law is defective and requires amendment before the benefits of the law will ever obtain.

"I am mindful of the fact that we need capital to develop our wonderful resources and that our laws must be so framed and administered to the end that capital will be encouraged and invited to come into our new state.

"If elected to the office of corporation commissioner I shall endeavor to give the people a square deal in all matters connected with the office.

AUTUMN BRIDAL SHOWERS.

A jelly, preserve and spice shower would be appropriate for the fall bride, for she cannot have too many preserves and condiments. Jars of these should be hidden in different parts of the house, and then directions given to find them. One guest receives from the hostess a slip reading, "Look under the vase on the parlor mantel piece." There she finds a paper saying, "Look on the back of the Morris chair in the library." There are directions to look under the carpet on the third stair from the top. From this a paper protrudes telling the seeker to look in the northeast corner of the parlor, and here she finds a tumbler of jelly. The more absurd the directions, the jollier will be the search. When all the guests have found their jars, they present them to the bride. Hot chocolate, sandwiches, and cake are served.

An apron shower will appeal to the young future housewife. To a new broom just below the head is fastened a coat hanger, and another is tied about eighteen inches lower. A mask is placed over the broom for the face, and a jacket and skirt hung on the hangers. Then the aprons are tied around the waist, one on top of the other, draped around the head for a bonnet, and fastened over the shoulder like a cape. After tea has been served, a knock is heard at the door, and the hostess opens it to find the broom lady standing there. She introduces her to the curious guests as Miss Matilda Plantagenet, and walks up to the bride-to-be. Then the poor lady is demolished, and the aprons and broom become the property of the guest of honor.—Woman's Home Companion.

The boy's appetite is often the source of amazement. If you would have such an appetite take Chamberlain's Tablets. They not only create a healthy appetite, but strengthen the stomach and enable it to do its work naturally. For sale by all druggists.
